"All Set" For Grand Celebration Dominion Day Opens With Patriotic Parade Headed by Bellevue Silver Band People Requested to Decorate Stores and Houses in Honor of Canada's National Holiday

Committees Putting the Finishing Touches On Friday's Celebration

Citizens Will Join in Making Dominion Day a Holiday Long to be Remembered.

For the first time since 1927, when Coleman miners celebrated the diamond jubilee anniversary of Confederation of the Canadian provinces, this town will stage a grand parade and program of sports tomorrow, including baseball, football, softball, track races and races for the women and children.

Starting at 10.30, when the grand parade will be marshalled under Harry Garner, and with a detachment of mounted police and Bellevue Silver Prize Band leading, decorated automobiles, bicycles, pet dogs, will be judged by a special committee. If required, the skating rink will be available in the event of rain, so that those with decorated cars may take shelter.

The sports open shortly after noon, and reference to the program will be of interest. The coal companies, business men and citizens have contributed to the generous prize list, while many have given their services cheerfully to arrange and supervise the details.

Every citizen is urged to do his part in making a grand event of this Dominion Day holiday, and decorations should be displayed on business places and residences. With the weather man in good humor, everything points to a glorious holiday.

On Saturday the Caledonian Society will hold their annual picnic, so that for two days Coleman citizens will be celebrating this important midsummer holiday.

All fraternal lodges are invited to take part in the parade, and those who have signified their intention of joining in are K.S.U., I.S.B.S. and K. Sokol.

All entries for Softball must be handed in to Rev. A. E. Larke by noon on Friday.

Emergency Landing Field Proves Useful

Last Friday morning an airplane circling high above the town attracted attention, banking and making a nose-dive to get a good view of the town. The machine landed on the emergency field west of town, and the occupants stated they were out for passenger business. It would be advisable for the Board of Trade to clean up the field and make it safe for planes landing. The land was owned by Godfrey Wylie, who resides nearby, and who kindly gave the board permission three years ago to mark it off for a landing field for forestry and other planes. It has proved useful on various occasions for planes forced to land owing to clouds obstructing their further progress east and west across the mountains.

MISS McDONALD HONORED

Last Friday evening a delightful party in honor of Miss Verna McDonald, a July bride, was held at the home of Miss Edith Haysom. Members of the public and high school staffs were present, also Mrs. J. O. C. McDonald, mother of the bride; Mrs. D. Hoyle, Mrs. J. Thomson, Mrs. Sidney White and Mrs. W. L. Rippon. The first portion of the evening was spent in playing progressive whist, for which Mrs. Hoyle won first prize and Mr. Hoyle the consolation prize. Lunch was followed by a presentation from the staff of a floor lamp. Principal Hoyle made a very pleasing address on behalf of the donors. Miss McDonald responded with her thanks and appreciation. The guests next took part in an amusing pin contest, first prize being won by the guest of honor; the second by Mrs. J. O. C. McDonald and the consolation by Mrs. Thomson. Present were Miss Verna McDonald, Mrs. Callum and daughters, Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. J. Thomson, Miss Hilda Clifford, Miss Olga Hole, Miss Margaret Dunlop, Miss Edna Fairhurst, Miss Margaret McDonald, Miss Belle Flynn, Miss Edith Haysom, Miss Bessie L. Dunlop. A shower was also held at Mrs. Lincoln's home on Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss McDonald, and a presentation made. The presents were arranged in a model fireplace, which on the front being opened, revealed a very nice assortment of useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown and Olive sail on Dominion Day from Quebec, on the C.P.R. "Empress of Britain" for three months holiday in England. Mr. Brown having leave of absence from his duties as express clerk at the C.P.R. depot. Their friends join in wishing them a pleasant holiday.

He will leave with his parents this week, as Dr. and Mrs. Borden and family intend to spend a holiday in Nova Scotia. They will make the trip by automobile.

D. H. ELTON FORMER NEWS-PAPER EDITOR

In a letter to the editor of The Journal, Mr. Elton, who last week addressed the citizens, states: "You are no doubt aware that 'Old Man Simpson,' of the Cranbrook Herald—one of the best newspaper men that ever graced earth; J. J. Young of the Calgary Herald; Col. Porter, news editor on the Calgary Herald; Bob Edwards, too well known to require any comments, and your humble servant organized the Alberta and Eastern British Columbia Press Association, outlined the territorial division, drafted the constitution and by-laws and started 'her going.' "Only Col. Porter, now doing syndicate work from The Tribune, Winnipeg, and 'yours truly' remain in this estate. Times, conditions and everything else have changed. I was one of the first newspaper men at the Frank slide; went over the mountains from Cardston with a photographer and 'shot out' news for Eastern papers. There were the days, departed never to return.

Mr. Elton also states that he enjoyed his visit here, and would be pleased to come again if he can be of service in addressing a citizens' meeting. Coleman people will be pleased to have further visits from him.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown and Olive sail on Dominion Day from Quebec, on the C.P.R. "Empress of Britain" for three months holiday in England. Mr. Brown having leave of absence from his duties as express clerk at the C.P.R. depot. Their friends join in wishing them a pleasant holiday.

SCHOOL BOARD SPECIAL MEETING

On Thursday a special meeting was held to consider teachers' contracts for the ensuing school year. Principal Hoyle and the staff were re-engaged on the same salaries as previously in force, and resignations were accepted; Miss Hilda Clifford and Miss Verna McDonald, who for several years have been on the public schools staff. Considerable discussion took place on various matters connected with the schools. All members were present, J. M. Allan presiding.

The Stampede will once more bring together the most outstanding riders of this continent and approximately twenty districts will be represented in the chuck wagon race.

The grandstand performance includes a wonderful production called "Canada Marching On," which will be participated in by about 150 artists and which includes some of the best vaudeville features ever engaged for the Calgary Fair.

Road Through Gap at North Fork Expect Will Be Repaired Shortly

Heavy Rain Washed Out Automobile Road Leaving Bare Rocks.

Fishermen throughout the southern part of the province will be pleased to learn that, due to representations made by the local Fish & Game Association to the provincial association and various government departments in Edmonton, word has been received that the road through "The Gap" on the Old Man river, about 25 miles north of Lundbreck, will be made passable for automobiles within a very short time.

During the recent floods approximately a mile of this road was badly damaged, being washed away to the bare rock walls in two or three places and making even foot traffic hazardous. Due to the efforts of Wm. E. Antel, the forest ranger above the Gap, with assistance voluntarily given by Jack Morden, a local guide and trapper, the road has been repaired to such an extent that foot travel is now quite safe. Without more assistance, however, it is doubtful if the road could have been made safe for general traffic until late in the summer, hence the request made to the government by the Hillcrest Fish & Game Protective Association that additional men be employed to enable the road to be opened for automobile traffic during the present fishing season.

Information received indicates that Mr. Bleigen, director of forestry, is taking a personal interest in the matter, and will either move one of the camps at present working near Red Deer down to do the work, or, if that is not possible, additional men will be engaged to put the road into shape as soon as possible.

The World's Way Out

The subject of tariffs and other trade restricting devices has passed, and is rapidly passing out of the field of partisan politics not only in Canada but throughout the world. The severe economic depression from which all nations have suffered, and from which they still continue to suffer, has taught all people that it is economically impossible to provide work for people everywhere and at the same time erect barriers to prevent them exchanging the products produced by their labor.

The trained economists of all countries, the great bankers and large financial institutions, the executives of transportation systems, and finally the statesmen of the world struggling with the problems of mounting national debts, ever increasing taxation yet declining revenues, coupled with the necessity of making huge relief expenditures to keep people from starving, now realize that the remedy for this state of affairs lies in encouraging, rather than restricting, trade intercourse throughout the world.

It is no longer a matter of party policy, but of national, yes, international, policy. Regardless of party names and old party traditions and former policies, people everywhere now appreciate the economic truth that it is impossible for every nation to have a so-called favorable balance of trade, that is, selling more to other countries than they buy from them. If one nation sells abroad, some other nation must buy, and when every nation adopts as its national policy the selling of the largest possible volume of its products abroad and buying as little as possible from other nations, the inevitable result is stagnation of trade. This stagnation has been brought about, and the whole world is suffering as a result, because of this mutual destruction of business millions of men and women are out of employment, while the youth of all countries approaching manhood and womanhood find no openings available in which to exercise their abilities and energies.

The real problem facing the world is how to break down these trade barriers. Inside the walls thus erected along all national boundary lines there have grown up industries of all kinds, many of them artificially forced and developed and protected against similar industries located elsewhere, in a natural environment. To remove this protection from these artificially created and stimulated industries, thus confronting them with the competition of the more naturally placed and established industries of the same class, means the extinction of the former, resulting in loss and readjustments which no country is anxious to face.

Nevertheless, the world has reached an impasse where such losses and readjustments must take place. In the final analysis, these losses would ultimately be offset by greater gains; there would be individual losses, but no great national gains. The world is beginning to realize this, but the problem is how to effect the necessary changes. It is doubtful if it can be brought about by any great international conference or agreement between all nations. And of course it is impossible for one nation alone to throw down its tariff walls while all other nations maintain them. Great Britain stood alone among the nations for many years, with the result that it was made the dumping ground for other nations' goods. British action in finally closing its doors that brought home to the world the suicidal course upon which all had embarked.

These tariff barriers were erected piece-meal over a long period of years, they will have to be torn down by simply reversing the process. In the past one nation erected a tariff wall, then other nations followed suit in self protection. Then nation number one raised its wall still higher, and the others followed suit. Now, in order to get out of the jalla they have built for themselves, these nations must begin to lower their walls, brick by brick.

Probably the most effective way will be for two nations to enter into trade agreements calling for lower tariffs, or none at all, between them. Trade will begin to flow between such countries. As a result a third nation, and then a fourth will be anxious to enter into the same arrangement.

That this procedure will in all likelihood be followed is indicated by the recent announcement from Lausanne that Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg have reciprocally agreed not to impose any new tariffs, or other trade restrictions, between them and to proceed by mutual reductions of 10 per cent. of their existing tariffs until a defined tariff level is reached. This is the best news this old world has heard for many years. True, these are small nations and not classed as among the foremost trading nations, but it is a hopeful sign.

Now, if that great group of nations constituting the British Commonwealth of Nations will be approaching Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, follow this lead and agree among themselves not to impose any new tariffs, but to remove many of the trade restricting devices at present in vogue, and proceed to enlarge the British preferential features in their tariffs by stated percentages over a term of years until their tariffs against each other are reduced to a minimum, or, better still, wiped out and free trade within the Empire established, the whole world will begin to see light and recover, because if the British Empire as a unit adopts such a policy, the rest of the world cannot afford to maintain restrictionist policies.

And it should always be remembered that it is but a short step from economic warfare to actual physical, military, naval and aerial warfare. Friendly trade relations between nations are the surest guarantees of the maintenance of peaceful political relations between them.

Search For Missing Explorer

British Expedition Will Visit Brazilian Jungle In Effort To Locate Col. Fawcett

A British expedition has left England to search the heart of the vast Brazilian jungle for the missing British explorer, Colonel Fawcett, who disappeared in Interior Mato Grosso in 1925.

Heartened by the story of a Swiss trapper named Rattin, that he had met and talked with a white man, prisoner of an unknown Indian tribe, last October, the expedition believes it will find Fawcett alive and well and bring him back to England.

The expedition will be led by Robert Churchward, who explored the Araguaya River last year, and Captain John G. Holman, who has spent the greater part of his life in Brazil as hunter and engineer.

Marvels Of Science

There Would Appear To Be No Limit To Man's Ingenuity

There seems to be no limit to man's ingenuity, nor to the persistence of his spirit of research. There is a little observatory at Sidmouth Bay, England, in which a famous astronomer, Dr. William Lockyer, and one assistant, are silently at work probing the heavens. This little eye of the world is now in possession of one of the age's marvels.

It is a photographic telescope, a gigantic sky camera, in which marvellous things are expected. Its lenses weigh over a ton and are valued at more than $10,000. The instrument can be left to itself, and will act as a Robot astronomer, for while men are asleep it will indefatigably follow the heavens.

The instrument has strange and fantastic powers. It will record meteors, comets, nebulosities which could never otherwise be seen. But the marvel is that it will reveal several events that occurred long before prohibition man walked the earth, for it will depict on its plate light that started for earth many, many millions of years ago.

All that can be wondered is how much further will science advance. Its devotees say that science is only in its infancy. If that is so what will it be at maturity?—Regina Daily Star.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

PATIENCE

When Patience sought to dwell with me,
I closed and barred the door.
She spoke with sweetest words,
To soothe a spirit sore.
She came in such a modest dress,
Her voice so soft and low,
I did not glimpse her loveliness;
Her charm I did not know.

But as the years went marching past
Time brought her back again,
And gently crept she at the last
Into my life's domain.
And now I see her face again
As through life's dusk and gloom,
It lights my way like star beams white
That through the twilight bloom.

Valuations In Contract

By Hamilton B. Hatch, Cavendish Club, Toronto

There are two ways cards must be valued in contract, i.e. from the defensive trick taking probabilities of the hand, and from the quantitative trick taking probabilities of the hand when played the offensive.

Primarily it may be said the defensive are high card valuations i.e. Aces, Kings, and Queens and their combinations. For defensive purposes barring exceptional cases, ruffing tricks and small cards of long suits cannot be considered.

As shown in previous articles the chief essential of an opening bid is the presence of three or four high cards (called honor tricks or quick tricks) as a minimum, in the opening bidder's hand. These high cards are ones which the opening bidder thinks, will, under normal distribution of the other cards in the other hands, take from two to three tricks against any bid the opponents may make. That, therefore, with an average hand, the combinations of the opening bidder, the opponents cannot bid and make game. It is on this premise that the theory of the opening bid is founded.

In valuing high cards defensively the writer only figures first and second round high cards, that is Aces and Kings, and their combinations. No definite defensive value is given to third round tricks. Their value is considered indeterminate and is called "plus" value. A half a trick is a card which will take a whole trick half of the time, the following table practically covers all combinations which definite defensive trick taking probabilities can be given.

One Half a Trick—Any King X

One Trick—Any Ace, any King Queen, any King Jack Small, any King Small, and Queen Small in different suits.

One and One Half Tricks—Any Ace Queen, any King Jack.

One Half a Trick—Any King Small.

One Trick—Any Ace, any King Queen, any King Jack Small, any King Small and Queen Small in different suits.

One and One Half Tricks—Any Ace Queen, any King Jack Ten, any Ace Jack Ten.

Two Tricks—Any Ace King.

All other high cards, queens, jacks, smalls, and tens, are simply lumped under the valuation "plus."

Quantitative trick taking valuation is a combination value for the twenty-six cards of the partnership and comprises three kinds of cards that will take tricks i.e. high cards and their combinations. The second round of suits—third small trumps that can be used for ruffing. The values under two and three are called distributional values.

Of the values arranged for valuing cards quantitatively, the table spoken for by Culbertson is probably the most complete and most accurate. It must be remembered, en passant, that distributional valuations are only to be relied upon up to a maximum of ten tricks for the combined hands. Beyond ten tricks distributional values are of no use. A hand must be extremely well fortified with high card tricks.

In no trump declarations, quantitative valuations must, of necessity, cover only the first two kinds of cards, as in no trump there can be no ruffing tricks. This is the fundamental reason why fewer number of tricks are required to go game in no trump than in a suit declaration. Therefore it follows logically that those hands which contain little chance for the making of ruffing tricks, should whenever possible, be played in no trump as the cheapness of the no trump game recommends it. This being so, contract players who hold a balanced hand i.e. a hand which contains no void or singleton should endeavor whenever possible, to play the balanced hand in no trump, provided the partner's hand is not unbalanced.

The table given below, for use in valuing hands quantitatively is taken from the Culbertson with only minor variations.

Saskatchewan Government Routes Order From England Via Churchill

Believing that every little bit helps, R. S. Garrett, Saskatchewan King's Printer, has requested an English firm to put an order for stationery through Hudson Bay and Churchill. "It will be only a small order," he said, "but it will add one more customer to the test, and will give the government first-hand information of time required and cost of delivery from England to Regina through Churchill."

Increase Of Liquor Export

An increase of more than 140,000 gallons in the export of whiskey from Canada to other countries during May is noted in a report issued by the Department of National Revenue. The total export for May last year was 95,533 gallons, and last month the volume had risen to 236,696 gallons. Practically all of the increase is accounted for in the exports to the French possessions of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

No Emergency Relief

Four Thousand Chinese At New York Have No Work, But Do Not Seek Dole

Four thousand Chinese in New York have no work, but no never hear lines, ask neither alms nor dole, seek no emergency relief.

In this depression the On Leong and the Hip Sing Tong have forgotten their enmity. Prejudices and hatreds are thrown aside. Each long has become an official relief agency, doing its work quietly and well. A slump in the restaurant business is responsible for much of the unemployment.

Icebergs Menace Ships

Three Huge Ones Drift Into Path Of Atlantic Liners

Three huge icebergs have drifted into the westbound steamship lane of the North Atlantic and into the path of liners bound from northern Europe ports to the United States, the Hydrographic Office of the Navy Department in Boston announced.

Word of the presence of the bergs was radioed to Boston by the Coast Guard cutter "Pontchartrain," which is on international ice patrol duty. The Navy has sent warnings to all vessels while the cuties is standing by the bergs and broadcasting warnings.

Rescued Man From Burning Airplane

Chief Pilot At Manchester Airport Commended For Bravery

The chief pilot at Manchester airport, H. W. Leading Aircraftman W. P. Lane. Police Constable Hayes, who was injured in rescue efforts was also commended by the jury, which returned a verdict of "accidental death."

Systematic inhalation of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent relief.

Many Injured In Riots When Pilgrims Attacked In Ireland

Belfast, Northern Ireland.—Apparent anti-Catholic temper flared into riotous conditions in four cities of Northern Ireland today, as Catholic pilgrims were departing for the Eucharistic Congress at Dublin.

Clashes occurred at Belfast, Ballymena, Larne and Coleraine. Scores were injured, a few seriously, before the pilgrims started their excursions.

The bishop of Down and Connor sent a telegram to Sir Dawson Bates, Northern Ireland's Minister for Home Affairs, demanding protection for the pilgrims on their return journey.

The worst outbreak occurred at Ballymena where a mob was on hand as hundreds of pilgrims gathered at the railway station to board their trains.

A fight developed and as it progressed it became evident the pilgrims were being worsted and the police succeeded only in confining the ill-tempered crowd to the opposite side of the roadway, where stones and bottles could still be hurled at the pilgrims.

Before the officers took a hand, however, several pilgrims were beaten and kicked. Some women were thrown down, their hats pulled off, their umbrellas broken, and their basket lunches taken from them.

Many girls among the pilgrims became hysterical. Others wept and still others knelt in prayer.

stones bumped off the carriage roofs, broke windows and littered the corridors with broken glass.

Before the attack occurred a crowd of Orangemen paraded through the principal streets of the town singing party songs.

At Larne, a clash occurred as the pilgrims were about to board a steamer for Dublin. The windows of the buses which had brought them were smashed, and several persons were injured, but none seriously.

The Belfast and Coleraine disturbances were comparatively minor. In the capital, stones were thrown at trains conveying pilgrims to the Great Northern station where they were to be entrained for Dublin. The police made a baton charge and two police men were injured. Omnibus windows were broken at Coleraine in a similar display.

The port holes of the excursion steamers at Larne also were broken by stones, some of which struck several men among the pilgrims. Stones also crashed through the windows of St. Nardus chapel at Larne.

At Donemana in Tyrone the papal flags and colors of the Eucharistic Congress, which were being displayed by Roman Catholic citizens, were hauled down and burned. A large parade of Orangemen followed by firing of revolver shots and stone throwing. Police reinforcements were called to restore order.

Tract Of Fertile Land In Southern Saskatchewan Suffers From Gale

Milestone, Sask.—Reminiscent of the Regina cyclone of June 30, 1912, the district south of Milestone was visited by a heavy wind storm accompanied by rain and hail which did untold damage to buildings and crops lying in its path. The gale came up quickly, and though it lasted for little more than half an hour it spread destruction over a tract of fertile land approximately three miles wide and 12 miles long lying about four miles south of town.

There were no deaths resulting from the storm, but Robert Rennie, Jr., had a terrifying experience and a very narrow escape when the house in which he had been residing was lifted off its foundation and smashed to kindling wood. Mr. Rennie was alone at the time, his wife being away visiting relatives, and he jumped from a height of about 15 feet to the ground. His only injury was a sprained ankle.

It was the worst storm ever experienced in this locality. The worst hail damage was apparently done to the farms of H. V. Underwood, Mrs. A. J. Bradley, Ross Cottingham and Wm. McCartney.

New "Mountie" Posts Being Established

One At Fort Norman Will Be Opened At Once

Calgary, Alberta.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be stationed at Fort Norman in the Great Bear Lake area of Canada's north, according to an announcement made by Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commissioner of the R.C.M.P. An officer may be stationed also at Echo Bay, near the centre of the mining fields.

The Fort Norman detachment, he said, would control the activities at Great Bear Lake, scene of recent radium-bearing ore finds, which drew hundreds of fortune hunters into the district. Establishment of the Echo Bay post will not occur for some time, he stated.

Celebrates Birthday

London, England.—The Prince of Wales celebrated his 38th birthday June 23. In contrast with recent birthdays when his heavy schedule of work and engagements has been followed as usual, he decided to take a day off. The only task he assigned himself was to read the thousands of congratulatory messages that poured in upon him from all corners of the world.

healthy appearance. The average height is 10 inches. Coarse grains are somewhat patchy. There is sufficient moisture for the present.

Saskatchewan. Southern Area.—Wheat is coming into shot blade at an average height of 12 inches. Blown fields have made fair recovery, although the crop is patchy in some districts. Coarse grains are making fair, but uneven progress, due to lack of moisture at seeding time. In the southeastern area grasshoppers are becoming troublesome. Rain is needed in some districts.

"Manitoba—Wheat is growing under favorable conditions and is largely in shot blade. Moisture is satisfactory. Cutworms and grasshoppers have caused some damage, but good rains and preventive measures are helping to control the threat.

Fall wheat is in head and is exceptionally promising, but some smut is showing up. Clovers are heavy.

British Columbia—Grain is showing satisfactory growth and a 100 per cent. hay crop is now being harvested. Heavy crops of roots and vegetables are indicated. The strawberry crop is about 80 per cent. of average. Early varieties of cherries will be moving in a few days. A 95 per cent. crop is estimated. Indications continue excellent for an above normal apple crop; pears, plums and peaches are expected to yield about 95 per cent. of average. Tomatoes are growing rapidly and as 80 per cent. crop is in sight. The potato yield is expected to be over 100 per cent.

Turning To Religion

Army Chaplain Says There Is Revival Of Christian Thought In Russia

Montreal, Que.—Although Bibles have to be "bootlegged" into Russia, there is nevertheless a great revival of Christian thought in that country, Rev. F. J. Miles said here. Col. Miles was senior chaplain of the Australian forces in the war and is now general secretary of the Russian Missionary Society.

"Evangelical Christianity is flourishing in Soviet Russia," he said. "Persecution has actually spread the faith. The greatest revival of modern times is now taking place among the poor peasants of the Communist state."

On the economic side the former chaplain said the remedy for Russian communism lay in the hands of other governments.

"The whole remedy is in our own hands," he said. "So long as we buy Russian products, so long will Russia deliberately try to upset markets. The capitalist nations are themselves providing Russia with the weapons it uses against them. If they ever stopped buying from Russia within six months the whole system would fall to pieces."

"It is with their forced labor that you Canadians have to compete in your forest products in Britain," he said. "Do you know that in England we can buy a Russian made door, ready for hanging, for the equivalent of $1.25 in Canadian money. Why, we could hardly buy the lumber to make it with in Canada for that price."

"And take wheat as another product. It is raised on collectivized farms by labor receiving nothing at all. How can you afford to compete with it in the markets of Britain?"

Cowboys Hold Bronchos

Until Toronto Rodeo Authorities Come Across With Wages

Toronto, Ont.—Never-say-die spirit of the Canadian west has manifested itself here in unusual fashion.

An even score of cowhands from southern Saskatchewan, and Alberta were tending 65 bronchos on the outskirts of Toronto. They rode off with the animals when they did not get paid for their week's work at a local stamper and rodeo. And they have declared their intention of keeping the bronchos until the rodeo authorities come across.

Seven-foot-tall Harry Hourie, of the Wood Mountains, relative of the man who captured Louis Riel, instigator of the Northwest rebellion, was in the van as the 20 odd rode off with the 65 bronchos.

Famine In China

Cannibalism Reported Rife In Desolated Areas

Vancouver, B.C.—Desolation and disaster in the famine areas of China were described to members of the Canadian Club by Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury Cathedral, Canterbury, Kent, England. Dean Johnson spent three months studying conditions in China.

Cannibalism was rife in areas where food was scarce, he declared. Conditions were so bad they were almost beyond imagination. "One missionary told me he had actually witnessed the preparation of human flesh for food."

Many desperate people resorted to suicide. They had gone without food for days and no relief was in sight. Relief workers were under a severe handicap, due to poor transportation facilities, he concluded.

Revolt In Siam Puts An End To Absolute Monarchy

Bangkok, Siam.—One of the world's few remaining absolute monarchs toppled when the army and navy of this picturesque land suddenly revolted and set up a "constitutional monarchy."

The coup was almost bloodless. The army chief of staff was believed shot to death by his own men when he resisted their demands for surrender.

Most of the royal family was captured immediately by the soldiers and sailors who invaded the principal royal palace. Several government officials and cabinet ministers were also taken.

The navy commanders ordered a warship to bring back as prisoners King Prajadhipok and his consort from Huahin, where they are spending a holiday.

The mass of the people apparently took no part in the movement, and the main city was quiet.

In fact, the capital was taken completely by surprise when the uniformed lines poured into the city afoot and in army tanks. Many had machine guns. They marched on the palace, and took over control, imprisoning designated high personages in their quarters there.

The army and navy leaders announced they intended to deliver the country from the government of princes.

Later some of the prisoners were reported to have been released, but other high officials and princes were still held.

Despatches relayed through Paris and Berlin differed in some respects from direct word from Bangkok. These advices said the king and queen had been captured, and that the military were carried about the city on the shoulders of the cheering citizens.

A diplomatic official in Paris recalled that King Prajadhipok had no children, and suggested the rebellion possibly was intended to place on the throne a dynasty more likely to continue.

The announcement of the military chiefs would not seem to bear out this deduction, however, and appeared to be more susceptible to the interpretation that perhaps Prajadhipok would be allowed to stay if he granted a constitution.

The king is responsible to no one under present law, and himself initiated the idea of selecting advisers in the cabinet and privy council, both of which bodies met weekly.

While in North America for an operation on his eye last year, the king told interviewers he intended to set up a constitutional monarchy when his country was ready for it.

Resuming Work As Railroad Engineer

Hon. Peter Heenan Going Back To His Trade

Montreal, Que.—Hon. Peter Heenan, former Liberal Minister of Labor, is going back to overalls as a locomotive driver, and hopes to take the throttle July 5—the 30th anniversary of his arrival in Canada.

"It is my trade, and a good one," he said. "Besides I have a family to support."

Plane Wreckage Found

St. John's, Nfld.—The wreckage of an aeroplane picked up near Cape Norman is believed to be the machine in which Arthur L. Sullivan, Newfoundland air mail pilot, disappeared in the northern part of the island some weeks ago. An extensive search was made for Sullivan and his companion, Dr. Karl Kuehnert, but without success. The wreckage was found near St. John's for examination.

Deferred Elections

Report Manitoba Conservatives Will Not Contest Northern Ridings

Winnipeg, Man.—Conservatives of Manitoba will not contest the two deferred election seats at The Pas and Rupert's Land. It was made known at party headquarters here. Nomination day in these two northern ridings is July 5, and polling day July 11.

There will probably be an acclamation in Rupert's Land but in The Pas the Independent Labor Party will force Premier John Bracken to an election.

Production Of Cars

Ottawa, Ont.—Production of automobiles in Canada, in May, totalled 8,221 cars, as compared with 6,810 cars during the previous month, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Customs records for May showed that 153 cars were imported from the United States and that 374 were exported during the same period.

Imperial Conference Is Envisioned As Rainbow In The Clouds

Saskatoon, Sask.—Envisioning the coming imperial conference as a rainbow in the clouds at a time of disillusionment and despair, Dr. John W. Dufoe, dean of Canadian editors, addressed convention delegates of the Canadian Saskatchewan Municipalities on "Canada and Foreign Markets," an address which looked to facilitation of empire trade and modification of obstacles to international commerce.

Dr. Dufoe, editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, termed by introductory speakers, including Premier J. T. M. Anderson, as "an eminent figure in empire journalism," delivered the main address at a luncheon tendered the convention delegates by the Saskatchewan Board of Trade.

Drawing attention to the substantial improvement in conditions that would follow any impetus to inter-empire and world trade occasioned by the conference at Ottawa next month, the eminent journalist pointed to the benefits that would accrue to the west.

"There is no place in the world more likely to profit than the three western provinces," he declared, "and no cities will feel the impulse quicker than the cities of the west."

While he advised his audience to follow the conference deliberations with interest and hope, for a definite step upward and out of the depression, Dr. Dufoe warned against too great expectations for "the conference of the family." In doing this, he recalled the many past years of the past 10 years when world leaders had "talked much and done little."

Affirming that trade with the empire and the world was indispensable to Canada, "of all countries," the speaker had nothing but scorn for that "curious theory" of international trade was a little out of date.

To him it seemed that "the world is getting its belly-full of doing without international trade and it doesn't like the dose very well." It would not be long, he predicted, until it was realized that world commerce was something indispensable.

Crop Reports For Western Provinces Are Very Encouraging

Montreal, Que.—"In practically every important agricultural region in the Dominion the crops have been making excellent growth, although east of the Great Lakes rain will be needed in the near future if favorable prospects are to continue," states the current telegraphic crop report of the Bank of Montreal. "Ideal weather throughout the prairie provinces has brought the grain along rapidly and wheat is now advancing into the shot blade stage in healthy condition," the report continues. Moisture conditions generally are satisfactory at present. In Ontario prospects for better than average crops have received a setback from two weeks of dry weather, though conditions are still reasonably satisfactory. In the Maritime provinces growth has been somewhat slow, warmer weather being needed. In British Columbia growing conditions have been excellent and prospects are good. Details follow:

Alberta, Northeastern Area.—Recent higher temperatures have prevented growth of all crops. Wheat is 10 to 12 inches high with a heavy stand and is about 15 per cent. in shot blade. Alberta southeastern area.—Warm weather with intermittent rains is producing rapid growth of all crops. Some damage from cutworms is reported. Pasture is plentiful. Alberta western area.—Early sown wheat averages 6 to 10 inches, with about 10 per cent. in shot blade. Moisture is sufficient.

Saskatchewan northern area.—Wheat is stooping satisfactorily, with

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"Self-preservation is the first law of Nature." If you doubt it, ask yourself what your reaction would be should danger threaten.

Despite a lot of sentiment about the "brotherhood of man" and international concord, ideal though it may be to talk of, that is the limit of its ideality among the masses. Look around—will you not find that self-interest is uppermost in people's dealings with each other? This is just a law of nature.

In human life, as in animal life, the survival of the fittest is demonstrated. Human beings, with a higher grade of intelligence, will do more to help the weak and deficient than will the animals. This is imposed on by some who embrace the thought that the world owes them a living. Hence we have loafers and ne'er-do-wells. In the animal kingdom life is a battle from a very short time after birth.

Man with his intelligence might take a good lesson from Nature's laws, with profit to himself. People who have no objective in life are bound to drift and be at the mercy of variable currents in the sea of life, as is a ship minus a rudder. Think it over—possibly you'll conclude that most failures to live a useful life are due to the faults and weaknesses of the individual. How many people use their brains to anything approaching capacity? Self-examination is mighty good medicine.

The man who seeks material wealth to the exclusion of giving some time and effort in useful service to the community in which he lives is missing an opportunity to make himself and others happier. The busy man is usually the happier, and far more useful man, than he who lives a selfish life. Plenty of opportunities will be discovered for service in Coleman, provided the will is exercised. Regard your home town as something more than just a boarding house. Take part in its activities in addition to your own work, and see what a difference it makes in your attitude towards it.

School children being marched around the Pass towns, singing denunciatory songs and carrying banners with slogans indicating a low grade of mentality is not an inspiring spectacle. Those responsible for these demonstrations are so utterly misguided that they accomplish nothing useful, and add to their unhappy feelings by breeding antagonism in the hearts of little children who wonder why they are herded around like a flock of sheep. Communist leaders placing children in the front line, display poor qualities in leadership, calling on the children to bolster up their propaganda of revolution. The only reason surmised for such useless demonstrations is that paid organizers seize upon the most flimsy excuses to try and justify holding on to their jobs. An agitator must agitate, of course, or his followers would tire of his inactivity, and he would be without a job. It helps to furnish material for lurid stories of misrepresentation in the Communist publications, the object of which is to inflame the minds of the people who read them, thereby further poisoning them with the venom of class hatred. Such is the policy of those responsible for the continuation of the strike in Blairmore and Bellevue, now in its fifth month, with remote prospect of settlement.

To turn to happier things, Dominion Day in Coleman will be a splendid community gathering in which all the people will take part. Sports for young and old will provide a healthy outlet for surplus energy, while the Bellevue band will play enlivening music to make everyone happy. All citizens should make it a point to join in the festivities, and help to make it one grand day—the 65th anniversary of Canadian Confederation.

Just noticing a local golf player "all dressed up," brings to mind an incident in the earlier days of golfing. Coleman held a tournament on a crude course close to town, and the championship was won by a player from one of the Pass towns who played with just one club, the handle of which was wrapped around with rag to enable him to get a stronger grip. The championship trophy was a fine golf bag, but having only the one club, he sold the bag to the highest bidder. He didn't wear plus fours or adorn himself with other trimmings, but he certainly could play golf. Possibly he is still in the district and will remember the incident.

"Loyalty to the home town folks in the final analysis means loyalty to oneself and his best interests, for it is by united effort and co-operation that the people of a town are able to live, and to build up a community, as it is said—we are all bound together in the bundle of life." The community is a reflex of the people living in it.

Here and There

Premier Gordon G. Harrington, of Nova Scotia, has returned from his trip to Europe by the Empress of Britain.

Growth of all crops in western Canada is now vigorous and well advanced for the time of year, according to the latest weekly survey made by the Canadian Pacific Railway's agricultural department, and crop prospects in the West as a whole are encouraging.

Members of the British party touring the Dominion under the auspices of the British Columbian Government, arrived at Montreal aboard the Duchess of Bedford, travelled across Canada by Canadian Pacific rail and lake steamship, stopped over at Banff and will spend between June 15 and July 2 in British Columbia.

Delta Gamma, one of the most important Greek Letter organizations on the continent, is holding its annual convention this year at the Empress Hotel, Victoria, June 27-July 1. Stopping over at Banff, a Canadian Pacific special will carry delegates to the Pacific Coast from Chicago, while Canadian members from Montreal, Toronto and Edmonton will join the main group at Victoria.

If early promise is fulfilled, the Annapolis Valley should this year produce an even larger yield of apples than in 1931 when the total crop was close to a million and three-quarters barrels, is the opinion of leading fruit-men of Kentville, N.S. The bloom this year lasted over ten days and attracted visitors by the thousand from Eastern Canada and the United States.

Miss Constance Regan, Middleburg, Va., established a record for women anglers on the Tobique River, New Brunswick, recently, when she took a 27½ lb. Atlantic silver salmon, the largest ever caught with a fly by a woman on that river. The record salmon taken in those waters by a male angler weighed 35½ lbs.

Canadian Pacific standard time is standard time the world over. Prior to 1883, every town and city had its own local time, based on the sun, but in that year the suggestion of Sir Sanford Fleming, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that the world should be divided into 24 sections, one for each hour of the day, and that time within each of these areas should be standard, was adopted all over Canada and the United States. In 1884 the plan was also adopted in Europe after a conference held at Washington.

Gilbert Miller, architect, of Youngstown, O., has a grouse against windows and doors in office buildings and summer homes. He found both too narrow to admit a mouse-hand with an antler spread of five feet, five inches taken from a monster he shot near St. Jovite last season. "It looks," he wrote to A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, "as though both the head and myself will end up in the garage." But that is the kind of trophy to be got in the forests of Quebec. Big heads and lots of them.

Who Should Vote

(Ferne Free Press)

It has been suggested that a good way to control municipal extravagance and possibly even Provincial and Federal extravagance, would be to restore the control of expenditures to a greater degree to taxpayers. When property qualifications are removed, there is a large proportion of the electorate more interested in free spending than in economy. It is scarcely fair that a taxpayer's vote should be cancelled by one who has no property rights, but who is interested in getting something from the government; those who provide the money should after all, have certain precedence in suggesting as to how it should be spent.

In the general zeal to make of every individual a citizen, the extension of franchise has perhaps gone too far, certainly many people are voting in Canada who have no knowledge of or interest in, the financial well being of the country. They are naturally in favor of all paternalistic schemes, but they do not have to furnish the money for these schemes.

A restriction in wide open franchise would probably be a sensible move in these times—Communi-

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

MARGARET FEDLER

Author of "The Splendid Policy," "The Hermit of Far Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London."

"So it does—theoretically. Only from a practical and purely material point of view, everything else is into insignificance beside the fact that I am literally starving. Oh!"—joyfully catching sight of Jean and Tormarin making their way up the room—"Here they are at last! Collect our water, Nick, and let's begin."

Neither of the late comers appeared in the least embarrassed by the tardiness of their arrival, and they responded to tentative enquiries concerning their afternoon's amusement with a dispassionate lack of self-consciousness.

Lady Anne experienced an inward quail of misgiving. There seemed too calm and tranquil a camaraderie between the two to please her altogether. It was as though the last few days had brought about a silent understanding between them—a wordless compact.

She picked up the menu and assumed an absorption in its contents which she was far from feeling.

"What are we all going to eat?" she asked. "I think we must hurry a little, or we shall be late for the play. Then I shall lose the exciting thrill of seeing the curtain go up."

Tormarin looked entertained.

"Does it still thrill you, you absurdly youthful person?"

"Of course it does. I always consider that the quality of the thrill produced by the rise of the curtain is the measure of one's capacity for enjoyment. When it no longer thrills me, I shall know that I am getting old and bored, and that I only go to the theatre to kill time and because everyone else goes."

Dinner proceeded leisurely in spite of Lady Anne's admonition that they should hurry, and presently Nick, who had glanced across the room once or twice as though secretly amused, remarked confidentially:

"My Lucretia Borgia lady is taking quite uncommon interest in someone of our party. I'm afraid I can't flatter myself that she's lost her heart to me, as I've only observed this development since Jean and Blaise joined us. Blaise, I believe it's you who have won her devoted—if, probably somewhat violent—affection."

"Your Lucretia Borgia lady? Which is she?" enquired Jean.

"You can't see her, because you are sitting with your back to her," replied Nick importantly. "And it isn't mine to know your head turned to a public restaurant—even although the modern reincarnation of an unpleasantly vengeful lady may be sitting just behind you. But if you'll look into that glass opposite you—a little to the right side of it—you'll see who I mean. She's quite unmistakable."

Jean tilted her head a little and peered sideways into the mirror which faced her. It was precisely at the same moment that Nick's "Lucretia Borgia lady" looked up for a second time from her poche Maiba, and Jean found herself gazing straight into the dense darkness of the eyes of Madame de Varigny.

"Why—why?" she stammered in astonishment. "It is the Comtesse de Varigny!" She turned to Lady Anne, adding explanatorily: "You remember, as Jean told you, about her?" She chaperoned me to Montavon, after Glynn had departed."

The recognition had been mutual. Madame de Varigny had half-risen from her seat and was poised in an attitude of expectancy, smiling and gesturing with expressive hands an invitation to Jean to join her.

"I'll go across and speak to her," said Jean. "I can't imagine what she is doing in London."

"I suppose you, too, met this rather splendid-looking personage at Montavon?" enquired Nick of his brother, as Jean took his hat.

"Yes," answered Jean, "I met him. Tormarin shook his head."

"I never spoke to her. I saw her once, on the night of a fancy-dress ball at the hotel, arrayed as Cleopatra."

"Said look the part all right," commented Nick. "She gives the impression of being a mixture of those angel-and-devil-mixed kind of women—the latter favour preponderating. I should rather feel the desirability of emulating Agag in any dealings I had with her. Good Lord!"—with a lively accession of interest—"Jean bringing her over here by Jove! She really is a beautiful person, isn't she? Like a sort of Eastern empress."

"Madame de Varigny wishes to be presented to you, Lady Anne," said Jean, and proceeded to effect introductions all round.

"I remember seeing you with Mees Peterson at Montavon," remarked the Comtesse, as she shook hands with Blaise, her dark eyes resting on him curiously.

"Join us and finish your dinner at our table," suggested Lady Anne hospitably.

But Madame de Varigny protested volubly that she had already finished her meal, though she would sit and talk with them a little if it was agreeable. "It was quite agreeable. She herself saw to that. No one could be more charming than she was when she chose, and on this occasion she elected to make herself about as altogether charming as it is possible for a woman to be, entirely conquering the hearts of Lady Anne and Nick. Her simple, childlike warmth of manner was in such almost ludicrous contrast to her majestic, dark-browed type of beauty that it took them completely by storm."

"This is only just a flying visit that I pay to England," she explained artlessly. "It is a great good fortune that I should have chanced to encounter you here, Mees Peterson."

"It's certainly an odd chance brought you to the same hotel," agreed Nick.

"Is it not?"—delightfully.

And, from the frank wonder and satisfaction she evinced at the coincidence, no one could possibly have surmised that the sole cause and origin of her "flying visit" was a short paragraph contained in the "Morning Post," a copy of which, by her express order, had been delivered daily at Chateau Varigny ever since her return thither from the Swiss Alps. The paragraph referred simply to the arrival at Claridge's of Lady Anne Breaman, accompanied by her two sons and Miss Jean Peterson.

"And are you making a long stay in London?" enquired Madame de Varigny.

Lady Anne shook her head.

"No. We go back to Staple tomorrow."

"The other's face fell."

"But how unfortunate! I shall then see nothing of my dear Mees Peterson."

She seemed so distressed that Lady Anne's kind heart went out to her, albeit it accorded ill with her plans to increase the number of her party.

"We are going on to the theatre," she said impulsively. "If you have no other engagement, why not come with us? There will be plenty of room in our box."

Madame de Varigny professed herself enchanted. Curiously enough, she seemed to have no particular wish to draw Jean into anything in the nature of a private talk, but appeared quite content to take part in the general conversation, while her eyes rested respectfully now upon Jean, now upon Tormarin, as though they afforded her an abstract interest of some kind.

Even at the theatre, where from her corner seat she was able to envisage the other players of the drama, she seemed almost as much interested in them as in the play that was being performed on the stage. Once, as Tormarin leaned forward and made some comment to Jean, their two pairs of eyes meeting in a look of mutual understanding of some small joke or other, the quiet watcher smiled contentedly, as though the little playlet satisfied some inner questioning.

With the fall of the curtain at the end of the first act, she turned to Lady Anne, politely enthusiastic.

"But it is a charming play," she said. "It is no wonder the house is so full."

Her glance strayed carelessly over the body of the auditorium, then was suddenly caught and held. A minute later she touched Jean's arm.

"I think there is someone in the stalls trying to attract your attention," she observed quietly.

Even as she spoke, Nick, too, became aware of the same fact.

"Hullo!" he exclaimed. "There's Geoffrey Burke down below. I didn't know he was in town."

Madame de Varigny found the effect upon her companions of this apparently innocent announcement distinctly interesting. It was as though a thrill of disconcerting consciousness ran through the other occupants of the box. Jean flushed suddenly and uncomfortably, and the dark, keen eyes that were watching from behind the fringe of dusky lashes noted an almost imperceptible exchange of expression fit across the faces of both Lady Anne and Tormarin. In neither case was the change altogether indicative of pleasure. Then, following quickly upon a bow of mutual recognition, the music of the orchestra suddenly ceased and the curtain went up for the second act.

Queen Mary Model Housewife.

Is Wise Shopper and Keeps Her Accounts Accurately

Queen Mary is a model housewife. She is a wise shopper and a careful spender and, best of all, she never makes mistakes in her accounts.

The authority for these comments is Mr. George W. Harris, of Edward Wallington, who, at 78, has just retired as treasurer to the Queen after 13 years of office.

"I have paid all the Queen's private bills since my appointment," Sir Edward told an interviewer, and I have been on hundreds of shopping expeditions with her. I was always very amazed by her grasp of current prices and the discrimination she showed in buying the right article. I never found a flaw in her bills."

A Three-In-One City

Shanghai, China's Largest City, Has Three Separate Governments

Shanghai, the largest city in China, is really three cities—the Native City, the International Settlement, and the French Concession, each separately governed. The Native City is further subdivided into three parts some distance from the other—Chapel, Nantao, and the borough of Pootung, the latter across the Hwangpu River. Shanghai was one of the first Chinese cities to be opened to Western trade, one of the twenty ports established in 1842. British merchants who moved in during the next few years obtained a concession to manage municipal affairs in their settlement.

Record For Scotland

No death sentence was passed in the Scotch courts during 1931, nor were there any executions, the annual record of the prisons department for last year shows. The commitments of prisoners of all classes, however, was 16,683, as against 16,618 in 1930.

There are about 103,700 Germans in the world. Only about 63,000,000 live in Germany.

TOO FAT AT 22

Lost 19 lbs.—And Backache

"I am 22 years of age, and I weighed 160 lbs. I had pains in the back and head, I didn't care about anything. When my doctor told me to try Kruschen Salts, I would not at first—1 tried Kruschen Salts, six months ago. I have lost 19 lbs., and feel a different woman, so I am very thankful to you. I have been recommended Kruschen Salts."—Mrs. P.

The condition which caused this woman to put on weight was also the cause of her backache and headaches. The whole trouble was due to the internal organs failing to expel from the body, regularly and completely, the waste products of digestion.

The six salts of Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to do each day the waste and poisons that cumber the system. Then, little by little, all fat goes slowly away, but surely. The backache and headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic, more so than ever before in your life.

A Novel Heating System

Electric Panels in Roof Radiate Warmth Like Sun

Two new Liverpool churches, one at Anfield, and one at Norris Green, are to have an entirely novel form of heating. They will be kept warm by electric panels fitted in the roof, and all the warmth will be directed straight down by dual electric rays at a low temperature. The people worshipping in these churches will feel as if the sun is shining down on them. These are the first churches in the world to be fitted with the new heating system, which is a British patent. No boiler-house or chimney is required, no labor needed to supervise the plant. Once the power has been switched on it is controlled automatically by thermostats, which will maintain the temperature of the building at whatever degree is needed.

Most Dangerous Living Thing

Poison Of Mamba Snake Kills in a Few Minutes

The most dangerous living thing, in the opinion of Captain Barnett Harris, is the black mamba, a snake found in the African jungles.

Harris, in an interview at Grand Rapids, Mich., said the mamba's poison is the most deadly of any known, and that a man will die in a few minutes after the bite. It can rear up high enough to strike a man on horseback, he said.

The captain, returned to America after a photographic expedition in Africa, said scientists have recently learned the mamba's poison. But, he said, the serum must be administered within a few seconds after the bite.

Shall Our Monetary System Be Changed?

An Analysis By Major Storage Of Several Of The Proposals Made

There appear to be two dominant schools of thought regarding the present depression. One school considers that monetary policy has had much to do with the situation and the other that believes that money has had but little to do with it. Many proposals are being put forth by the first group for changes and modifications in the monetary system. The second school is more conservative and international monetary and financial systems. Due to the variety and complexity of the proposals, and due to the intricacy of the whole question of national and international finance and currency, it is not to be wondered at that the plain man is somewhat confused with it. We have received requests to endeavor to explain some of the suggestions that have been made. An attempt will be made, therefore, in this article to set out the main points of several of the various proposals. First of all it might be well to review how the currencies of England, Canada and the United States compare one with the other because the differences that exist between them form the basis of several of the proposals that have been made.

Until recently, the British sterling bank notes could be exchanged on demand for gold at the rate of approximately 124 grains of gold for each pound note. The United States and the Canadian dollars could each be similarly exchanged for gold on demand at the rate of approximately 26 grains of gold for each dollar bill. (The gold referred to is official standard gold—not pure gold.)

In many years past, the countries of the world have issued paper notes, currency and other forms of paper liabilities greatly in excess of the gold they held in support of such currency and paper. On the average, countries seem to have considered that it was in holding about 40 per cent. gold behind the official notes they issued, which notes could be exchanged, on demand, almost instantly, for gold. It is, therefore, quite obvious that at any time more than 40 per cent. of those holding the notes of the various countries of gold standard were to demand gold, they would be legally quite entitled to do so, that there would be in sufficient gold to redeem all the paper notes issued.

Up to quite recently, the number of persons or governments that desired to have gold rather than the paper notes and currency of the various nations was practically negligible, so that for many years the 40 per cent. of the gold behind notes was a safe cover. Due to the war and its aftermath, however, a decided lack of confidence between the nations began to manifest itself (although this has been usual after every large war in the past). One of the results of this was that the number of holders of the large foreign holders of British sterling notes demanded gold in exchange for their notes—consequently the gold stock of the world looked bleak. From England until there was a danger, had it continued, that there would be no gold left to support the country at all. (The unequal international distribution of gold further complicated the situation because of the unusually high percentage of the world's gold that has been accumulated by France and the United States). Great Britain, therefore, by law, stated that her sterling notes would no longer be exchangeable for gold. This was done to avoid any desire to induce inflation of currency, but solely with the end in view of preserving the gold that the Bank of England still had left, so that at least some gold backing could be preserved for the sterling paper currency and notes.

Naturally, it cannot be expected that a country's notes that are not convertible into gold on demand can be as valuable as those of a country that is willing, at all times, to exchange its notes for gold. That is of course, under the present monetary system where gold is, generally speaking, the only recognized international standard of value.

The English sterling pound note, therefore, fell on the international markets and the work value of the price of those paper notes of countries such as the United States and France that still remained for gold, that is usually termed the full gold standard. The English pound fell from an exchange value of 4.86 American dollars down to an exchange value of only 3.66 dollars, which means, in other words, that the British sterling pound note, which used to be worth 124 grains of gold, at this moment, only worth approximately 91 grains of gold. (This amount gold, by the way, can still be obtained for the British pound sterling by means of changing sterling for the American paper currency and then changing the American paper currency into gold.)

The fall in value of the British pound note in relation to the American dollar note has been roughly 25 per cent. The American paper dollar has similarly fallen in value, excepting that it has depreciated less than half as much as the British pound in relation to the American dollar. The Canadian and American dollar bills normally are worth and could be exchanged for approximately 26 grains of gold. The Canadian dollar, however, today is worth and only represents approximately 25 grains of gold. In this connection, it must not be forgotten, however, that the British pound and the Canadian dollar, when in gold itself, are worth just as much in terms of American gold dollars as they ever were. The value of Canadian dollars or British pounds in gold itself has not depreciated one iota.

Such is the state of affairs at this moment that those who believe that monetary causes have brought about the present depression argue that changes with our monetary system will have to be made before any economic improvement can take place.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND DUSTING DISTASTEFUL

Dust cloths going into discard; Unpleasant to use; a bother to wash

APPLEFORD WONDER PAPER HAS GREAT VOGUE

Of all household tasks, that of dusting is the least appealing to the majority of women.

However, this condition, like many another connected with housework, is undergoing radical change. In a great many Canadian homes the women are discarding dust cloths entirely, and are using Appleford Wonder Paper instead, because it actually dusters, as it cleans—as it polishes, doing a better and much quicker job than the old dust cloth ever did.

This new, and extremely modern Wonder Paper, is made from clean rag, and soft paper pulp, treated in a scientific way with a high-grade furniture polish; and absorbs dirt instead of spreading it.

Appleford Wonder Paper comes in handy packages, twenty-five large sheets for twenty-five cents. You crumple a sheet into a soft web and go over the surface requiring attention. When one man is soiled or worn, turn the Wonder Paper inside out. After you have given a quick dusting with the paper, you will be pleased to work, you can still use Wonder Paper on the floor, if you wish.

And when you are through, there's no odor about to shake out or wash. Throw away the Wonder Paper and you have completed the most tiresome part of housework in half the time and with half the effort.

Still Observe Old Custom

German Town Distributes Bread On Anniversary Of Robert's Capture

Many customs, centuries old, survive in European countries. One of these is the practice at Kyritz, Germany, of distributing hot rolls on the anniversary of the capture of a notorious robber. The bandit terrorized the countryside at one period of the middle ages. He and his men would accost any traveller who appeared without robbery, and at times depended upon towns to carry off booty and hostages. Then they would take to the hills, where their knowledge enabled them to defy pursuers. After slipping away many times he was finally run down and captured. In celebration of the event the lord who ruled that particular section of the country gave away loaves of bread to all his serfs and vassals. The custom never has died out.

Pay Your TAXES

To facilitate the payment of taxes, same may be paid monthly at the town office.

It is necessary that rate-payers make every effort to pay, as tax revenue is the only source from which operating and general expenses can be met. Make it the rule to pay what you can each month and thereby make it easier for the town as well as yourselves.

IDEAL HOMES

(By J. Paxton, Coleman)

Ideal homes are precious places; Lack perhaps of silk and lace, Chipped old saucer, cracked old plates, Nothing new or up to date; Patched old curtains, blunt old knife, Happy husband, happy wife.

Ideal homes are none too neat; Carpets scuffed by little feet, Scratched old table, chipped old chair, Merry laughter on the air. Here a toy, and there a toy, Dimpled lassie, sturdy boy.

Ideal homes lack new inventions, But they're bright with good intentions.

Mother has a magic key, Oh, the lovely things they see When mother opens wide the door That leads to happy times in store.

Ideal homes are busy places Yet one sees such smiling faces; Mother works at home all day While father's working hard away. Evening comes and work hours cease, Ideal homes are blest with peace.
